CORALE. Endlesssssssong

Alberto Tadiello

CORALE. Endlesssssssong is a composition of 8 audio tracks that are created from the interweaving of songs of humans and various species of cetaceans. The succession of tracks mixes laments, funeral dirges, utterances, and human babbling with vocal units, verses, phrasings, themes and songs of humpback whales, dolphins, beluga whales, killer whales, and above all southern right whales, cetaceans that migrate to the coasts of the Argentine Sea.

All tracks were conceived together, growing as a single super-organism, where the concept of "crown shyness", a particular phenomenon of plant growth, has become a matrix and processing metaphor. The so-called "crown shyness", whereby plants of the same species grow together in a limited space without touching each other, is a sort of natural geopolitical paradigm, evoking the respect and protection of a space for one's personal growth, the ethics of free coexistence.
